

DUNALASTAIR HOTEL SUITES

Location & Directions

(Latitude: 56.700567 Longitude: -4.188485)

By Air

Edinburgh Airport, 93 miles: flights to/from London, Manchester, Bristol, Exeter, Cardiff and other UK destinations, as well as air links throughout Europe including hubs at Amsterdam and Frankfurt. There are also air links with Mediterranean and US destinations.

Inverness Airport, 86 miles: flights to/from London, Manchester, Birmingham, Belfast and other UK destinations, as well as air links through Europe, Middle East and North America.

Glasgow Airport, 117 miles: flights to/from London, Manchester, Bristol, Cardiff and other UK destinations, as well as air links through Europe, Asia and North America

Aberdeen Airport, 125 miles: flights throughout the UK, Mediterranean destinations, Western Europe and Scandinavia.

Dunalastair Hotel Suites Ltd

1 The Square, Kinloch Rannoch
Perthshire PH16 5PW
T: + 44 1882 580 444
E: bookings@dunalastairhotel.com
W: dunalastairhotel.com

Head Office: 50 Havelock Terrace,
London SW8 4AL
T: + 44 20 7401 8777
Company No: 08670756
VAT No: 185 8175 67

By Car

From Edinburgh (95 miles)

- Take the A90, cross the Forth Road Bridge northbound. The carriageway will become the M90
- Continue along the M90 in the direction of Perth and once in Perth, follow signs for the A9 northbound, to Inverness
- Continue on the A9 past Dunkeld and Pitlochry, then take the B847 following signs for Tummel Bridge and Kinloch Rannoch
- After approximately 10 miles turn onto the B846. Keep following signs for Kinloch Rannoch, then follow the road until you get to the village itself

From Glasgow (108 miles)

- Head east on the M8 towards Edinburgh
- Bear off onto the M80 following signs for Stirling and the Kincardine Bridge
- In approximately 18 miles continue following signs for the M80 Stirling
- After about 6 miles continue onto the M9 northbound
- Follow the M9 all the way to Perth
- Then follow signs for Inverness on the A9 northbound
- Turn off the A9 after Pitlochry and follow signs for Kinloch Rannoch

From Inverness (82 miles)

- Follow the A9 southbound out of Inverness
- Follow the road past Aviemore, Kingussie, Newtonmore and Dalwhinnie
- After approximately 62 miles, you will cross the Drumochter Summit and around 7 miles later you turn off the A9, following signs for Trinafour
- Take care navigating these minor roads which, if followed in a roughly southern and westerly direction, should lead to Kinloch Rannoch

From Aberdeen (119 miles)

- Head south on A90 in the direction of Dundee and Perth, passing Stonehaven and Laurencekirk
- At the Kirriemuir junction, near Forfar, turn onto the A926 following signs for Blairgowrie
- Pass through Blairgowrie and continue following signs for the A9 Perth and Dunkeld
- When reaching A9, join the carriageway northbound heading for Inverness
- Turn off for Kinloch Rannoch a little north of Pitlochry

From Fort William (70 miles)

- Take the A82 northbound out of Fort William
- At Spean Bridge turn right onto the A86 following signs for Dalwhinnie and Perth A9
- Continue for approximately 30 miles then turn right onto the A889 near Dalwhinnie
- Follow signs for the village and later arrive at the A9 join southbound, following signs for Perth
- After around 50 miles, you will cross the Drumochter Summit, and around 7 miles later you turn off the A9 following signs for Trinafour

By Train

The Caledonian Sleeper service runs overnight from London Euston to Fort William. It is a scenic journey on the world famous West Highland Line to the quaintly-named Upper Tyndrum station, where you would change to a local train for the final two stops to Rannoch station.

Trains from Glasgow Queen Street to Mallaig via Fort William depart 3 or 4 times a day and stop at Rannoch Station. A note of caution: the train divides at Crianlarich, so ensure that you sit in the carriages heading towards Fort William and Mallaig, rather than those heading towards Oban.

The final few miles

We provide a taxi service to and from Rannoch station at a nominal fee which you would need to book with us in advance. There is also a local bus from Pitlochry: head towards the Westend car park and take the No.82 bus towards B846 for 19 stops (which takes about an hour) and get off at 'The Village Kinloch Rannoch'.